

Objectives :

- To provide experience in conceptualizing and conducting empirical research in psychology
- To establish the skills necessary to produce a report according to current academic standards within psychology